Process

Contact me to get started with creating your ideal wedding stationery.

If you know exactly what you want then that's great, but if you have more questions then ask away!

It can help to create a Pinterest board of images about the look, style, vibe and ideas you'd like your wedding stationery to look like.

If you have any inspiration images you can send them over or if you have specific colours you need to use to match other aspects of your planning then I can make sure everything is cohesive.

After creating your Pinterest board, think about what colours you are leaning to the most and match other aspects like flowers, bridesmaids dresses and venue. Fonts are a very important part of your wedding brand and make a big difference to the overall feel. Do you want something modern? Classy? Vintage? Bohemian? Sophisticated? See what stands out to you both and what kind of vibe you are after.

The wedding branding will be created first to be carried out across any item.

What is wedding branding?

Wedding branding is about creating a unique and personal design for your wedding that is carried out throughout all the details before and during the day. It is an important step in the early part of planning for you to understand what you would like the overall look and feel to be on your special day. It includes the overall look, feel, and color palette that you have chosen for your day

If you choose to have a wedding logo - This can be a simple initials monogram or include a custom illustration of something special to you as a couple.

Prep for the big day

It's recommend to send save the date notices around a year before the wedding and the invitations around four to six months before the big day.

Timescale

It takes around 1-3 weeks to create your wedding branding and invitations depending on your requirements.

I recommend anything needed for the wedding day is signed off and printed at the latest two weeks before the big day. Depending on what options you go for wedding stationery takes around 1-3 weeks to create.

I can recommend print companies in the local area or I can provide print ready files for you to send to your own contractor.

Client Testimonials

"Daisy was kind enough to design our wedding stationary and we were over the moon - the design was perfectly tailored to our theme and delivered promptly.

She listened to our every request and delivered to the highest quality.

We highly recommend "

Keiron & Sadye

"We can not recommend Daisy enough everything she did for our wedding was more than perfect! She listened to everything we wanted and gave us so many ideas.

Our wedding guests loved her work just as much as we did and loved all the personal little touches! We can not thank her enough"
